Chelwood Nursery School

Single Equality Policy

This policy document has been written to inform all those who work within the school or who have contact with it :- parents, staff, governors, representatives of the Local Authority, Ofsted, visitors and members of the community, of Chelwood Nursery School's approach to supporting Equality across all areas of school life.

This document has been developed by staff and governors, as a consequence of, the passing of the Equalities Act 2010. The Equality Act 2010 protects people from discrimination and replaces all previous, separate equality laws including the Disability Discrimination Act, Race Relations Act and many others. It contains the 'public sector equality duty,' which applies to all public sector organisations including : local councils, schools and colleges, police, fire and rescue, hospitals and many more.

This policy combines policy information previous held in our school's Disability Equality Scheme (DDA 2005), Race Equalities and Diversity Policy, Gender Equality Scheme, Equal Opportunities policy.

Our policy supports and informs our practice, and as a working document it is open to review and modification in the light of changing legislative regulation, circumstances, and the needs of the school, families and children.

This policy should be read in conjunction with the school's Inclusion and Behaviour Management policies.

- publish equality objectives at least once every four years.*

*These will be published on the school website as required by statutory regulations

www.chelwood.lewisham.sch.uk

To do this we will collect data related to the protected characteristics above and analyse this data to determine our focus for our equality objectives. The data will be assessed across our core provisions as a school.

This will include the following functions:

- Admissions
- Attendance
- Attainment
- Exclusions
- Prejudice related incidents

Our objectives will detail how we will ensure equality is applied to the services listed above however where we find evidence that other functions have a significant impact on any particular group we will include work in this area.

We also welcome our duty under the Education and Inspections Act 2006 to promote community cohesion.

We recognise that these duties reflect international human rights standards as expressed in the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child, the UN Convention on the Rights of People with Disabilities, and the Human Rights Act 1998.

We use these key principles to guide us and to help us evaluate everything we do in school.

The school's core values and principles are underpinned by our commitment to eliminating discrimination, to advancing equality of opportunity and to fostering good relations in our school community with a welcoming and inclusive ethos, approach and environment that reflects and celebrates diversity. Each experience and event of school life is carefully planned to make it accessible to children and families, considering individual and group needs, and making responsive adjustments, always striving to improve our inclusive practice.

What does this look like in practice in Chelwood?

- Rich resources, inside and outside reflecting diversity, similarities and differences including: books, stories, rhymes, puzzles, photos, puppets, dolls, small world, home corners, role play and dressing up clothes and props, musical instruments, cooking and eating activities.
- A regularly enhanced welcome display – Where in the World / Meet My Family – with greetings in the languages of our school community, giving value to children's home backgrounds, languages and different family set-ups.
- Giving equal value to different family set-ups e.g. one mum, mum and dad, dad and dad, mum and mum, making use of resources from organisations such as Stonewall.
- Providing all children with access to experiences and resources to enable opportunities to explore/challenge traditionally male and female roles (gender stereotypes) e.g. engaging girls in construction activities and boys in cooking, dressing up and nurture play.

- An innovative approach to the curriculum which draws on research into the way children, boys and girls, develop similarly and differently and works reflectively to meet their needs e.g. large scale mark making experiences outdoors that may often appeal to boys.
- A birthday display featuring all children and staff with greetings in home languages, enabling all children to feel part of our community and introducing them to written languages that are different to their own.
- Songs, rhymes and stories from different cultures and in different languages.
- Information for parents and carers presented and accessible in a variety of forms e.g. verbal, letters, online, plasma screen, photos and symbols.
- Stay and Play days encouraging the involvement of parents and carers and supporting good relationships.
- Developing children's awareness and tolerance of others, of being in a social group and understanding that we all matter, with a PSE curriculum which values every child and nurtures their self esteem and self worth so that they can care for themselves and for those around them. For example we teach children to take control of what happens to them using phrases such as "Stop it. I don't like it", confidently and listening to others if they say it to them.
- Celebrating religious and cultural festivals including Diwali, Christmas, Eid, Chinese New Year, Black History Week, Easter and Carnival, with opportunities to find out about one another's cultural and religious traditions, through hands on experiences such as dressing up, playing instruments and preparing and sharing food together.
- Dual language books in all classes and in the lending library to support the communication, language and literacy of children with English as an additional language (EAL).
- Supporting children's home languages and their developing English, through classroom organisation and enabling connections between families and children who share the same language, and developing story sessions in home languages using dual language texts, songs and rhymes.
- Using Makaton signs and visual symbols to support the communication of children with communication difficulties.
- Our well developed inclusive practice starts with understanding each child – their needs, interests, schemas, approaches to learning. We use a variety of strategies and approaches to remove potential barriers and ensure that all can access learning and participate fully in a curriculum that is personalised to meet each child's needs.
- Reaching out to professionals beyond the school, through a well established Team Around the Child/Family process to collaboratively problem solve issues families face in their education and beyond.

- The school has an Accessibility Plan to support children with disabilities.
